

Fragile Balance

PROFESSIONAL RESUME

BIOGRAPHY

Seamlessly blending diverse styles, Fragile Balance represents the expanding landscape of acoustic music. Formed in 2010 in El Paso, Texas by high school best friends Cruz Lujan and Nico Cooper, Fragile Balance boldly treads new ground, with beautiful acoustic soundscapes that showcase a wide range of emotions. At the heart of the band is their unique combination of modern post-rock atmospherics, contemporary fingerstyle acoustic experimentation and classically influenced, expressive techniques. Bringing together disparate influences, Fragile Balance create a unique palette of sonic colors for their self-dubbed brand of "post-acoustic" music.

Fragile Balance have toured nationally, and shared the stage with acoustic legends such as Michael Chapdelaine and Antoine Dufour, as well as Latin American folk artists like Katia Cardenal. Both members have competed at the world-renowned Canadian Guitar Festival and are endorsed by Stonebridge Guitars. They are also committed to using their music to serve their community through benefit concerts and events.

Fragile Balance have independently recorded and released two full-length albums; The Flow of Dreams and Seasons Change. They are currently releasing the Poetry of Sound single series and have plans to release another full length album in 2014.
